Vodcasts - Watchable Podcasts

Audio pairs with video, allowing viewers to see the action behind the voices they hear. Now, listeners can get a behind-the-scenes look at how your podcast is created. And you benefit from producing two types of content in one production! We'll remotely record your provider's interview and produce both a video episode and a traditional audio-only podcast. Essentially, you're getting both a vodcast and a podcast.

FacePod

A different version of the Vodcast—we remove the talk host from the video so the full spotlight is on your provider. The end result is your provider speaking directly to the user, looking them straight in the eye, for a more intimate user experience.

English-to-Spanish conversion

We can convert English-language podcasts to Spanish by replacing—word for word—what was said on the original podcast with Spanish-speaking voiceover talent. We also keep the original podcast guest's voice in the production for authenticity.

Spanish-to-English conversion

We can produce podcasts in Spanish language if you have a bilingual physician or other provider. If you also want an English-language version, we can convert Spanish-language podcasts to English by replacing—word for word—what the original guest and host said. We also keep snippets of the original podcast guest's voice in the production for authenticity.

Narrative story-telling podcasts

Enhance traditional testimonials with patient journey podcasts. These powerful segments tell your patient's story through their experience and success—all in their own voice—with professional narration as well as music and sound effects, where appropriate.
